Dear Mr. Mukhi:

Please accept my congratulations on your recent inaugural MedX Conference. I hope it was very successful.

Ontario's future is built on the talent, ambition and innovation of its young people. Conferences such as MedX help high school and post-secondary students explore careers in medicine, health care and related fields, while learning directly from practicing physicians and health-care leaders.

By creating opportunities for students to develop new skills, broaden their perspectives and engage with their communities, you are helping build a stronger health-care workforce and a brighter future for Ontario and inspire the next generation of health-care leaders.

Thank you again for your commitment to supporting young people as they pursue their educational and professional aspirations.

Sincerely,
